Multi-Process Killer Free Download is a lightweight application that claims to make it possible for you to kill multiple processes at the same time. Of course, while you can kill any process that is currently running, and a process is always running by definition, your main priority is to terminate processes, that take up a lot of CPU or RAM or both. Multi-Process Killer is a portable application that shouldn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry, you just copy it on any USB flash drive or other removable media and take it with you to work. After you start the application you will be greeted with a main panel, which will display a list of all the processes that are currently running on your computer. You can manually sort the list, select processes with a specific priority, or set the refresh rate to be reloaded automatically. The program has a built-in system for cleaning up system resources. It is actually configured to terminate processes faster than they were created, so if you kill the process and wait a few moments, the process will not be running any more. It keeps a running log of the processes that have been terminated and once you start the application again, the list that you see displays the most recent kills. Multi-Process Killer has no configuration settings whatsoever. This application is easy to use, almost child's play.
